Our programs empower people to lead self-directed lives filled with independence, purpose, and diverse experiences!

AHRC Day Services:

Day Habilitation: Our programs blend structured activities with community engagement to support the development of vital independent living skills, connection with local resources, and exploration of interests.

Customized Programming: AHRC NYC offers specialized community-based habilitation services for individuals with Traumatic Brain Injuries and proudly provides the TEACCH Program, dedicated to empowering participants with autism.

College Programs: Melissa Riggio Higher Education Program provides students with fully inclusive access to higher education. Students pursue lifelong learning, self advocate, and explore career goals - learning collectively with all members of the college community.

Unleash Your Creative Potential! Join Our Broadway for performing arts or participate in ArTech Collective to develop as an artist and showcase your work in local businesses and museums.

Day Habilitation With Path to Independence: Participants uncover their distinct strengths and passions, laying the foundation for individualized career paths, while our dedicated team collaborates closely to create supported opportunities to learn critical independence skills.
